

Vadu Pescarilor

CATCH & COOK
SINCE 1996

Our commercial fishing activity started back in 1996 by the sea, under the blue sky a d gorgeous sand at Vadu beach, right in the heart of the wild life sanctuary "Danube Delta Biosphere".

"Vadu Pescarilor" was founded, with a strong love and passion for the sea and the tradition of fishing itself.

In the beginning there was the dream to be able to transform a family experience into a place where absolutely everyone could feel the beauty of a fisherman's life. The idea of a perfect spot, where both the fishing and the authentic cooking would meet and form a perfect combination, right in the middle of the wildlife, slowly started. Nowadays "Vadu Pescarilor" represents more than just a destination. It is a live story, a complete experience, which we are proud to share with every single person who visits us.

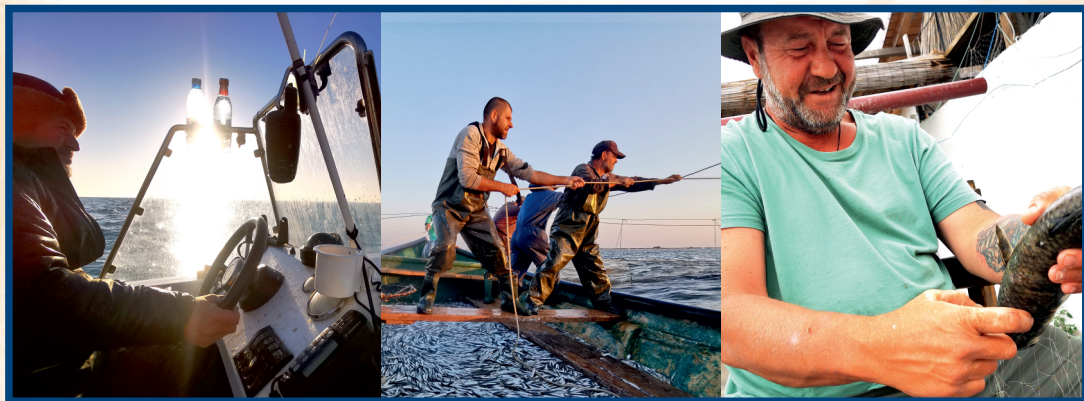

Over the years, we've managed to improve our fishing techniques and constantly contribute to the provision of fresh fish on the Romanian market. We are proud to produce our own fishing tools, using not only traditional methods, but also complying with all the requirements and standards of the European legislation.

We strongly believe in keeping the craft authentic, protecting the entire marine ecosystem, which forms the basis of our planet's food supply.

Our efforts brought us a noticeable place in Romania, the actual capturing the turbot, a great species on the fish market. Starting from my desire to share the taste and the fishing tradition with my family aside, together we opened "Vadu Pescarilor", a fishing cuisine place, where the fresh fish is prepared with authentic local ingredients. It's about the fish soup, the fried or grilled fish, each and every dish represents the sea itself, and also our local traditions.

At our restaurant under the blue sky and right on the magic sand, the way we love to call it, our guests can enjoy the simple flavours and fish dishes that we cook with respect for each ingredient. For our family, the savory kitchen is a sequel of our fishing story; each dish has an unique memory of a beautiful morning by the sea, our lovely Black Sea, remembering the cold and clear water, the nets growing bigger by the minute. We are keeping the tradition alive, cooking the mullet, enjoying the blueish, mackerel or the anchovies, within every dish. This way we can all enjoy the feeling of sharing all the sea's wonders with the people visiting us on the seashore of the Black Sea. Years later, our family fishing story has been embedded with the one of nature conservation.

Shortly after, "Vadu Pescarilor" has become a perfect spot for active partnerships and co-operations meant to sustain the preservation and durable development of the marine resources. We've accomplished partnerships and supported scientific research projects and activities within the fish farming sector, along with the "Grigore Antipa" National Institute of Marine Research and Development, the Aquatic Ecology Institute of research, development, fishing and aquaculture of Galati. We endorsed the sustainable fishing in partnership with the non guvernamental organisation General Association of Hunters and Fishermen in Romanian. We also supported the sustainable sport fishing, keeping the marine ecosystem well balanced. Thru our programme, the amateur fishermen have the opportunity to experience the emotions and the challenges of an authentic fishing, under the eye of the specialists, in the protected area of the Danube Delta Biosphere Reservation. The "Vadu Pescarilor" team together with the partners from the sport fishing organisation, offer support and guidelines using fishing techniques and understanding the local ecosystems, and the impact among all fish species. This experience offers a great respect lesson for the environment and pure joy for each capture, either small or big, giving the fact that many fishes are released, contributing to the local biodiversity health.
